

Sophie's Playlist

“Ships at a distance have every man's wish on board.” — Zora Neale Hurston, Their Eyes Were Watching God (1937) ~“Begin the Begin” R.E.M. (1986)

How does Gramble Thyssen, middle-aged and complacent bureaucrat, transform into a brilliant FBI agent? The Gramble Chronicles I: Sophie's Playlist describes the challenges he faces as he starts living for the present instead of pining for the past as well as the other people along his path that are swept up into his exciting destiny.

The author has assembled a playlist on Deezer that goes along with the book:
<http://www.deezer.com/playlist/2651437224>

Michael Finocchiaro was born in Rhode Island, but grew up in Miami in the 70s before going to University of Florida to get a BS in Mechanical Engineering and enter a career in IT working for some of the world's largest IT companies (IBM, HP, PTC and Dassault Systèmes). He has lived in Paris, France for over two decades. He had dreams of becoming a writer for years, having always been an avid reader (he is very active on goodreads.com) of fiction and non-fiction. He realized his writing dream by self-publishing, in January 2017, his first book Sophie's Playlist (The Gramble Chronicles I) via Kindle Direct Publishing. It was subsequently picked up by Solstice Publishing, re-edited and re-published on January 7, 2018. He is currently working on the sequel.

